What happens ON inspection day?

- Saurus Constructions will have assigned a time for your job, however we do ask for some flexibility. We try to operate as efficiently as possible and may be a little early... except on that occasion... when we might be a little late.
- We pride ourselves on our great communications and will always stay in touch with everyone involved such as the agent, buyer, seller or tenant.
- Clinton and Rebecca (also husband and wife) operate as a team, working together onsite. Clinton is your inspector and Rebecca takes photos and notes. They'll be at the inspection site for approximately one hour.
- If someone is home Rebecca will meet the homeowner or tenant at the door and is happy to answer any questions. Also, you are welcome to stay (it's your home!), please feel free to go about as normal.
- If nobody is at home Rebecca and Clinton are happy to follow any instructions you leave for us and we will leave our business card on your kitchen table, to indicate we have been to your property and the inspection is complete.
- Saurus Constructions is required to take photos of all the floors, walls and ceilings. Clinton is a qualified inspector and by law, must be able to prove what he's assessed. Requests could occur days, weeks, even years after the inspection has been completed. Be assured, Rebecca is very aware of the laws relating to taking photos in your home and within the community. Some homeowners and tenants appreciate being aware we do take photos, prior to our inspection
- Please be aware Clinton is required to look in cupboards (although he will not be assessing your organisational skills!)

We understand an inspection can feel like quite an invasive process and we take this opportunity to thank you for your time and patience.

What is inspected?

- We inspect both inside and outside your home including:
- Driveways, fences, gates and paths
- Steps, ramps, awnings, decks, verandas and outdoor entertaining areas
- Rooves – inside and out (if possible)
- Sheds and carports
- Internal floors, walls and ceilings
- Subfloors (if possible)
- Bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens, laundries, lounge and dining rooms (all rooms)

What is NOT inspected?

We are not licenced plumbers or electricians – this is not our scope of practice and it is unethical for us to report on:

- Airconditioning
- Septic systems
- Pools
- Pumps
- Lights or fans
- Ovens, range hoods and hot plates
- Smoke alarms

Why can client's no longer attend inspections?

After much discussion and consternation, we have come to the decision that we must conduct our inspections without any clients onsite. Safety to our clients is our number one priority and often we are not aware of the condition of the house, property, or reason for sale. In recent times this has put us in a position we are not comfortable with and led us to our non-negotiable decision. The bottom line is our insurance doesn't cover our clients if they were to have an accident onsite, so this was a definite line in the sand for us.

Furthermore, emotions are at an all-time high and while buyers are understandably excited, homeowners and tenants are not always on the same page, and this can sometimes cause an uneasy environment in which to work.

A building and pest inspection at the best of times is considered invasive and while we conduct ourselves in a professional and kind manner, it is unsurprisingly, an emotional time for most.

As we strive for continuous improvement, we have decided to focus on the job at hand – and that is providing a detailed comprehensive report. Unfortunately, we aren't qualified counsellors, despite our empathetic and caring natures, and time is a premium.

Our Building and Pest inspections are conducted by Clinton and Rebecca, working together onsite for 40mins – 1 hour. It's our job to inform our client, usually the buyer, about the property they're looking to purchase and help them to make confident and informed decisions. There are no passes or fails.

Working as a team, Clinton writes the report as Rebecca drives to the next location. Rebecca will email the report to their client and text both the agent and client, that the report has been sent, prior to arriving and starting the next inspection. We really do offer a quick turnaround.

Along with the report/s, our valued clients are provided with Clinton's personal mobile/afterhours number and are encouraged to call anytime. If we haven't had contact by 5pm Clinton will call each client from that day's inspection list and go over the reports in detail and answer any questions.

Has the booking system changed?

The new system guides agents and clients to book a date, the system only showing you how many available appointments are left to book on that day. The time frame will be confirmed with the agent only.

The big difference is the magic happens with Casey back of house once the day is filled with appointments. Casey then sets the run for the day in travel order (fantastic move for us) rather than the previous booking system, where a very specific time slot was offered causing chaos, confusion

Still with the same colour chart for quick reference

Green – time slots available

Red – fully booked

White – unavailable

Some of the benefits are outlined below:

Because of the regional nature of where we live, this booking method gives us the opportunity to set a run for the day. We then contact the agent with a time frame, reducing chops and changes to schedules we have experienced in the past. This new booking system will likely help us keep to realistic schedule and not keep agents, homeowners or tenants waiting – ETA on the day can be arranged.

Clients no longer meet with us onsite – reducing our onsite time quicker turn around on reports (Can you please insert the link from the question Why Clients no longer attend inspections)

This new system lets us be more flexible each day to add or cancel appointments without disappointment.

FOR BUYERS

How long does it take?

Saurus Constructions allocate a 3-hour time slot for an inspection and guarantee a 3-hour turnaround for residential jobs and a 24-hour turnaround for our commercial clients.

Clinton and Rebecca will be onsite for the inspection for a total of one hour.

What if I'm buying a home and attending at the same time as Saurus Constructions? [Please note this is only for special conditions]

If you are unaccompanied by your real estate agent, please wait for us in the comfort of your car or beside our Saurus Construction van. We will come and collect you when we are ready.

At Saurus Constructions, our onsite policy for buyers includes:

- Please do not take any photos, you will be provided with plenty in the report
- Do not touch any personal belongings if we take you inside
- Leave all doors and drawers closed, we will open for you, if needed
- Do not damage the property in any way
- Please notify us immediately if an accident occurs

PLEASE NOTE: If you are after an in-depth viewing to obtain information you need (such as: measuring spaces, looking around the gardens or showing a family member or friend), this must be arranged with your real estate agent, because our timeframe, entry notice and insurances do not allow for it.

We also ask you to remember that this is someone's home, and everyone's circumstances are different, and we are not privy regarding why the house is on the market. As always, the message is to be kind -- not everyone is selling for an upgrade and moving to a better place.

Can Clinton quote or provide advice on a building job while he's there?

No. Clinton cannot quote (as a builder) on work we have inspected. For your convenience, we have a trade list we recommend
